Witness Cornerstone Laying of St. Brigid's Church Sunday Evening.

Bishop O'Donaghue and Many Priests at the Impressive Exercises.

Realization of Long Cherished Dream by the Older Parishioners.

FATHER SCHUHMAN'S SERMON

In the presence of an assemblage that numbered thousands and embraced many non-Catholics the cornerstone of the imposing and handsome new St. Brigid's church was laid with beautiful but impressive ceremony by the Right Rev. Denis O'Donaghue, Bishop of Louisville, and a large number of the Catholic priests of the diocese last Sunday evening. As the pastor, Father Jansen, the Bishop and clergy emerged from the old church, escorted by St. Vincent de Paul and Holy Trinity Commanders of the Knights of St. John as a guard of honor, all the available space surrounding the new edifice and the streets and sidewalks leading to Baxter and Hepburn avenues were filled with people eager to witness the cornerstone laying and hear the words of the eloquent Father George Schuhmann, D. D., of St. John's, of which parish St. Brigid's was once a part.

The services began with the sermon of Rev. Father Schuhmann at 5:30 o'clock and the sun was sinking in the west as Bishop O'Donaghue blessed the stone and placed it in position. Father Schuhmann designated St. Brigid's parish a daughter of St. John's church, of which the mother was justly proud, and pointed out that all of the territory now embraced in Father Jansen's parish was a part of St. John's until about forty-six years ago. Surveying the surrounding territory with its many beautiful homes and improvements, he said a stately church edifice such as St. Brigid's would be when completed would enliven the Catholic spirit and would be the realization of the long-cherished dream of the older members of the parish. The old church building was unique in that it was church, school and parish house all in one. Dwelling on the long-felt need and necessity for a new church, he quoted the oft-repeated remark that when St. Brigid's church was mentioned attention was called to the spacious lot where the new edifice will stand. Naming Catholic institutions now on the Newburg road and others to be erected, Father Schuhmann said St. Brigid's will be the gateway to the Roman road of Louisville and will stand a pedestal to the faith and generosity of the people of the Highlands. Pointing to the stone, brick, ore, lumber and other material, now crude and rough, he said that in the erection of the church they would be given a unity, symmetry and beauty that assures power and dignity. Father Schuhmann declared the church a mother at the cradle of the nations, and above all was placed the cross. It was the church that preached slaves were children of God and maintains the principle that the weak must be sustained by the strong. He next dwelt briefly on the influences of the confessional, that steadies and gives poise to man through life. And above all was the finger of God directing the church in teaching for superiors, government and law. In concluding he paid high tribute to the pastor, Rev. Father Jansen, telling of his work in Paducah prior to coming to Louisville. St. Brigid's will be the fourth church erected by him and will be one of the finest in Kentucky.

Following Father Schuhmann's sermon the Bishop and clergy proceeded to the wooden cross on the rear of the lot and blessed the spot where the altar will stand. At the laying of the cornerstone Bishop O'Donaghue was attended by Rev. Charles P. Raffo as deacon, Rev. Thomas White as subdeacon and Rev. Patrick Monaghan as master of ceremonies. When the exercises were concluded the Bishop and clergy returned to the parish house, where they were entertained at supper served by the ladies of the congregation.

Ground for the new structure was broken May 20, and it is hoped to have the church completed by next Easter. Then for long years it will stand a monument to the Christian piety and zeal of its present priest and people.

CHAPLAINS AS DELEGATES.

Chaplain F. B. Doherty, of the United States army, and Chaplain E. A. Brodmann, of the United States navy, have been detailed to attend the national convention of the Catholic Total Abstinence Union of America at Notre Dame, Ind.

REMARKABLE GATHERING.

For the third time within twenty years the General Chapter of the Congregation of the Holy Cross is being held at the mother house of the order at Notre Dame, Ind. The General Chapter, which meets every six years, is the most important assembly in the order. The chapter legislates on various matters pertaining to the government of the whole order, elects various important officers, such as the Assistant General, Procurator General, who looks after the interests of his order at Rome, Provincials, etc. Very Rev. Gilbert Francois, C. S. C., Supervisor General, is presiding over the sessions, which opened Thursday and will continue for a week.

SENATOR BRADLEY
Gives England a Hard Job on Panama Canal Treaty.

Senator Bradley made a virile speech in the United States Senate last Monday on the Government's control of the Panama canal. Utterly absurd and ridiculous is Great Britain's interpretation of the treaty, said Senator Bradley, who holds that the vessels of nations could linger in Panama canal waters twenty-four hours subject to no interference or regulation by the United States. The absurdity of this contention, he declared, would be proved in time of war. "England's attitude on the toll question," Senator Bradley said, "reveals a spirit no more generous than that of the would-be philanthropist who, upon his deathbed, directed that all of his cattle be slaughtered and the horns, hoofs and tails only be divided among the poor and hungry." The Canal Zone is as much American property and subject to our control as is Alaska or the District of Columbia. Had the United States thought for a moment that we could not control the canal it never would have been built. We never would have spent $400,000,000 on it, had we not thought our ships would have superior right there. Great Britain did not spend one cent on this great enterprise, and yet wants to come in on the ground floor with us after our courage, manhood and genius have built the canal and our money paid for it. What has The Hague to do with our domestic affairs?" Inquired the Senator. "The matter of toll is not a question for The Hague, where every country represented would have a direct interest in the question and be positively opposed to us."

A fervid tribute to the enterprise in making possible this canal was paid by the Kentuckian. There will be no trouble over the United States holding to its sovereign rights over the canal zone, he predicted. "England is too wise to raise any trouble over this question," he said, "and I believe any issues which arise could be adjusted through diplomatic channels. We seek no trouble, neither do we ask any nation for permission to manage our domestic affairs. The intelligence, the manhood and the patriotic spirit that was abroad in this land of ours in Seventy-six and in 1812 is alive amongst us today, and will continue to live, and it was that intelligence, that manhood and that spirit which enabled us to do what no other nation in the world could do—build this great canal."

INTERESTING

Information From Irish Congested District Boards.

William J. Duffy, member of Parliament for South Galway, has extracted some interesting information from the Irish Congested Districts Board. For the first time something like a plain statement of the work accomplished under the act of 1909 is available for scrutiny. It appears that up to the first day of March in this year 553 estates in the congested districts counties have been placed in the hands of the board to arrange terms of purchase. The price asked by the owners is about $30,000,000. Offers for 109 of these estates have been made, and by the end of the year the board will have bought estates at a price exceeding $16,000,000. The usual kind of warning to tenants is also issued. The board announces that they will negotiate as quickly as practicable for the purchase of all suitable estates, and for the rapid resale of holdings which do not need alterations. Illegal combinations against the payment of rent to the landlord pending the valuation of the estate by the board, or the prevalence of intimidation of any kind, will delay indefinitely instead of hastening the purchase."

FEASTS.

Today is the feast of the discovery of the body of St. Stephen. On August 6 the interesting patronal feast of St. Marie Maggiore, in poetical commemoration of one of the most touching interests in the history of the church at Rome, will be celebrated with impressive ceremonial. August 7 we have the feast of St. Lawrence, and on August 11, the feast of St. Dominic. There will be appropriate celebrations at the Minerva, where one of the saint's fingers is preserved as a relic, and at Santa Sabina, where he established the devotion of the Rosary, and where the marble table on which he slept, the orange tree which he planted and the cell he occupied will be visited by scores of pious pilgrims. On August 7 we have the feast of St. Lawrence, August 15 the Assumption, August 20 St. Bernard and without interruption a wave of ever-swinging commemorations in honor of the saints and martyrs of the church in Rome.

CATHOLIC BASEBALL LEAGUE.

The St. Charles Club of the Catholic Baseball League increased their lead in the race for the pennant by defeating St. Brigid's team, while St. William's, their closest competitor, lost to Holy Trinity. At present it is anyone's race for the other positions and tomorrow's games may cause a big upset in the standing. Following is the schedule for tomorrow: St. William vs. St. Anthony, St. Brigid vs. St. Martin, St. Louis Bertrand vs. Holy Trinity at Shawnee Park, and St. Charles and Holy Cross at Spring Bank Park. The standing to date is as follows:

Clubs. Won. Lost. Pet. St. Charles. 11 2 .846 St. William. 10 4 .714 Holy Cross. 8 6 .571 Holy Trinity. 7 6 .514

RECENT DEATHS.

Saturday morning the funeral of Valentine Dahlman took place from St. Charles Borromeo church. Born in Germany, he came to this country as a boy, and for over half a century had resided in Louisville, respected by all who knew him. Prominent in Catholic society circles and a member of the Catholic Knights of America, the Concordia, Jefferson and Liederkrantz, he had a wide circle of friends who mourn his death. Surviving him are two sons, Valentine and J. C. Dahlman, and two daughters, Misses Nettie and Kate Dahlman.

The parade, which promises to surpass anything of the kind ever witnessed here, will comprise many divisions composed of organizations, parishes, floats, automobiles, etc. It will form at Broadway and Underhill and Barrett avenue. The head of the first division will rest on Broadway with rear on Barrett avenue. The head of the second division will rest on Broadway, with rear on Underhill street. Each division will alternate in this way, with head on Broadway and body resting on the streets that run north and south. Beginning at Underhill and Broadway the parade will move west on Broadway to Fourth, north on Fourth to Walnut, west on Walnut to Fifth, north on Fifth to Jefferson, west on Jefferson to Eighth, north on Eighth to Market, east on Market to Fourth, north on Fourth to Main, east on Main to Preston, west on Preston to Jefferson, west on Jefferson to Third, south on Third to Broadway, where it will disband.

In the evening at 8 o'clock there will be a mass meeting at the Cathedral, when addresses will be delivered by Bishop O'Donaghue, Gov. McCreary, Mayor Head, National President Feneley, Apostolic Delegate Bonzano and the Most Rev. S. G. Messmer, Archbishop of Milwaukee. Interspersed will be musical selections by the orchestra and a grand chorus of several hundred voices.

President Ganz announced that Chairman Eugene Cooney had been selected to preside at the banquet, and everybody agreed that the honor was well bestowed, as the Chairman had been an untiring worker. The next general meeting will be held Thursday night, August 8, but in the meantime the various committees are meeting almost nightly and working out the most minute details. The programme and subjects for the banquet are as follows: Eugene J. Cooney, toastmaster; "The Diocese of Louisville," Right Rev. D. O'Donaghue, Bishop of Louisville; "The Power of the Catholic Press," Hon. Paul Chew; musical selections by orchestra; address, Very Rev. James P. Cronin; "The Church and Social Order," Hon. Matthew O'Doherty. Closing and benediction by the visiting Bishops.

POSTPONED.

The Forty Hours' Adoration, announced for tomorrow at Holy Cross church, has been postponed to a date yet to be announced. This was done because of the change of pastors.

SHERLEY IS A SURE WINNER

The next step in the national political game will be the convention of the Roosevelt Progressives at Chicago next Monday, and they are straining every effort to make a showing in the eyes of the general public, sparing neither time nor money. It is the opinion of conservative judges that Teddy and his Bull Moose party will be on the wane following the convention, and that the only real interest now manifested is that of curiosity of the general public, that curiosity being of the same character as the ordinary person's interest in the circus parade. The public is always interested in the spectacular doings of Roosevelt and Bryan, who can always be counted on to amuse for a time, but after their fill, turn to more conservative choices. There are two classes of followers in the Roosevelt party, the first being the politicians who have lost cast in the Republican party and are seeking a new field for self advertisement, and the second class consists of those Republicans who are opposed to Taft on account of his fairness in religious matters and are masking their Guardian of Liberty sentiment behind the Roosevelt banner. This statement in these columns about the latter was questioned by several misguided Roosevelt supporters recently, and for further proof of the truth of this statement it is only necessary to call attention to one of the Roosevelt campaign managers and supporters, Major Gen. D. E. Sickles (retired), who is Chief Custodian of the Guardians of Liberty, which is a national office in this new fangled A. A. organization.

DROWNS IN RIVER.

The sudden death by drowning in the Ohio river last Sunday evening of Charles N. Leeser, son of Nathaniel Leeser, 1727 West Dumesell street, brought desolation to the parents and relatives and took from his immediate circle of friends one of its most genial and popular members. With several boy companions young Leeser was swimming near the Fourteenth-street bridge. The first intimation of danger was when his head appeared from under a log floating down stream, when he shouted for help, but too late to be saved. The unfortunate youth was a nephew of Alderman Fred Leeser, and besides his parents leaves a brother and sister. His funeral took place Tuesday morning from St. William's church, Rev. Father George Connor officiating at the solemn mass of requiem.

SOUVENIR.

Interesting Feature Connected With Coming Federation.

The souvenir book containing an epitome of the history of the diocese of Louisville and of Indianapolis, the two oldest in the West, and also sketches of the various organizations, their officers and members, as well as a brief history of all the parishes in Louisville, is now ready for distribution, and can be secured at any of the bookstores at the nominal price of twenty-five cents a copy. The book was prepared with great care by Mr. Edward Fitzpatrick, who is probably the best posted local writer of Catholic history now living in the Falls Cities outside of the ranks of the clergy. The sketches are written in an entertaining as well as instructive way and in a Catholic spirit which will appeal to all. Unless the Kentucky Irish American is very much mistaken 3,000 copies printed will be disposed of in a few days, and those who would secure a copy should do so at once. It cost over fifty cents a copy to print the book, but inasmuch as the Federation agreed to sell a limited number at the lower figure it is to carry out this agreement. Those who have seen the book have extended congratulations to Mr. Fitzpatrick, and all have said that no one else could have done the work so well in so short a time. The officers of the local Federation and the members of the clergy are particularly well pleased. If it were possible another edition would be issued, but this is out of the question now.

The Federation has opened official headquarters at 304 West Jefferson street, where the book and other information will be given out. Brief remarks by William M. Higgins, Thomas Keenan, John Hennessy, John J. Barry, Lawrence J. Mackey, Thomas Walsh, William McDonogh, Thomas Lynch, James Welsh, Thomas Langan and others aroused an enthusiasm that lasted throughout the evening and resulted in action that will place the Ancient Order second to none in the parade that will be six miles in length. The Parade and Float Committee was enlarged by the addition of William M. Higgins, Secretary Thomas Langan and Treasurer Thomas Walsh. William McDonogh submitted a proposition for a large and magnificent float and was authorized to at once close the contract for its erection. All agreed that the Hibernians should present a uniform appearance and the consensus of opinion favored dark trousers, the shirt and collar and dark tie, with green canvas hats and sunshades if procurable. This was placed in the hands of the committee, who have been able to secure all but the green sun umbrellas, for which some other color may be substituted. This expense will be borne by the County Board, thereby leaving no member an excuse for not taking part in the parade. It was voted to secure a band to head the Ancient Order and Ladies' Auxiliary, whose part it is said will prove quite an agreeable surprise. Thomas Langan, County Financial Secretary, was chosen Marshal, and later any other appointments necessary will be made. During the week the committee has been busy and has everything well under way for a most creditable turnout.

County President Dolan and Magistrate P. T. Sullivan made a detailed statement of the proceedings of the national convention at Chicago. They expressed satisfaction over the insurance question, which will be submitted to a referendum vote of the order before final action is taken at Norfolk two years hence. Both endorsed the re-election of National President Regan and the law placing the annual salary of the Chief Executive at $3,600. This will prove more satisfactory than the former system and will result in concentrating and limiting the expense generally allowed every two years for traveling and organizing purposes. The Southern States were ably represented and could have secured a place on the national board if they had presented a candidate. Every body attending the convention, the largest ever held, concurred in the resolutions adopted congratulating John Redmond and the Irish people on the near approach of home rule. The convention maintained its former position and will have nothing to do with any faction. Chicago left nothing undone that would make pleasant the stay of delegates and visitors, who returned home fully satisfied with the week's work. The convention was held in the splendid Emmet Memorial Hall, a building of which every Hibernian was proud, and declared to be a credit to the Hibernians and Chicago.

Upon motion adjournment was taken on Friday night, August 2, when the reports of the Parade and Float Committee would be submitted and final arrangements completed.

FEDERATION.

The event of greatest interest to Catholics everywhere just now is the national convention of the American Federation of Catholic Societies and editors, which will be in session in this city from August 16 to August 21. These two bodies will bring to Louisville many distinguished church dignitaries and thousands of visitors, to whom will be tendered a genuine Kentucky welcome. For nearly a year the local Catholic Federation, societies and parishes, have been preparing for the entertainment of this great body, and the Kentucky Irish American can give every assurance that their labors are certain to be crowned with success.

The convention and its deliberations will of course be of first importance, but we feel confident that its every act and resolution will be imbued with a spirit of religion and patriotism that will receive the approval of the American people. The names of the able and noted church dignitaries and public men who will be heard insure this result and will place the Catholic people in their true position.

Now that the work of the Louisville Federation is so nearly completed, it is but just to say that everybody should contribute to the expense that must be incurred for halls, decorations, music, banquets and the monster parade. Right here the Kentucky Irish American would say it is the duty of every Catholic man in Louisville to walk to turn out in this parade. In this way only will they show the right spirit and do honor to our city and the great Catholic body the Federation represents. With so many societies and parishes participating in the parade, there will be no excuse for any one not being in the ranks on this occasion.

WILL THEY HEED THIS?

The "Guardians of Liberty" could not well ponder the following, which breathes the real spirit of patriotism and liberty:

"The characteristics of a true American are good will, sympathy with the helpless and oppressed, intelligence, uprightness, energy, courage and industry; and if we love our country and desire to make its institutions permanent, we must labor to cultivate these virtues in ourselves and in those whom we are able to influence. Patriotism, like charity, begins at home."

These are the words of the great Catholic Archbishop J. L. Spalding, an American of Americans and a patriot of patriots, but how different they are from the utterances of Miles and his following, who are opposed to religion. The genuine and true American fosters religion, which can not be said for the pseudo "Guardians."

APPRECIATED.

The Kentucky Irish American appreciates the kindly words expressed by the Catholic Federation Parade Committee and the resolution adopted. Its publishers will continue the work of creating enthusiasm and keeping alive the greatest interest in all laudable undertakings of our Catholic societies. Commanding our work the committee "trusts that the Kentucky Irish American shall increase many times in circulation and thereby spread its effectiveness for good." In accordance with a motion adopted at a previous meeting, the resolutions were presented by a special committee and signed by Col. Michael Reichert, John A. Doyle and Dr. Charles A. Edelen.

HOUSE CLEANING NEEDED.

The investigation in the O'Donnell case has proven conclusively that a shakeup is needed in the Louisville Post-office and President Taft would do wisely in removing some of the officials, who besides trying to play politics with a vengeance have found time to encourage the organization of the Guardians of Liberty.

HOLY CROSS.

Rev. Father Brey and Father Henry Are Transferred.

Rev. Father Celestine Brey, for fifteen years pastor of St. Rose church at Cloverport, has been transferred from that charge to Holy Cross church on West Broadway, succeeding Father John Henry, who has been pastor since the death of the late Rev. John Sheridan. At the masses last Sunday Father Henry announced his resignation, which had been kindly accepted by Bishop O'Donaghue, saying that he had spent his life in the country and that his best work could be done in the rural districts. In his farewell he congratulated the people of Holy Cross upon their good fortune of having Father Brey assigned as their pastor. He expressed his gratitude to one and all for their kind treatment and co-operation, and predicted a glorious future for this splendid and growing congregation. Father Henry goes to Cloverport, and both priests will tomorrow assume their new charges.

AMERICANS

Are Investing in Industrial Enterprises in Ireland.

The success of the tobacco growing enterprise of Col. Everard in County Meath, Ireland, is now further strengthened by the promise of unlimited financial support from the United States. James J. Parkinson, who was at one time a partner of Richard Croker in his racing and horse breeding business, has now abandoned the racetrack and joined the Industrial revolutionists. He says he has the command of $5,000,000 of American money, which he is prepared to stake in Irish industries with possibilities. The success of Col. Everard's undertaking, which sprang from quite a small beginning, has especially appealed to him and has expressed a desire to place himself at the head of a syndicate which will materially extend the enterprise. Tobacco cultivation is not, however, going to exhaust all his activities, for he has already set about working the coal deposits in Kildare and Queen's county. For fifty years or more these mines have remained in a derelict state, and it was only during the recent coal strike in England that their possibilities appealed to Parkinson. The disappearance of the Irish landlord under the provisions of the land act has freed the coal of the mining royalties which hitherto rendered it an impossible investment. Col. Everard is well known in Kentucky, where he still has interests.

RESPITE.

Council Amends Its Order
Evicting Unmarried Tenants.

There is still hope for the bachelors of Dunshaughlin, Ireland, who are threatened with eviction if they do not marry. The time limit fixed by the Rural District Council for enforcing the eviction order has passed, but the council decided to grant the tardy bachelors a respite until November 1 next. This decision was only arrived at after long and earnest debate, and if by November 1 the bachelors have not "got somebody to look after their houses for the coming winter" then out they go. At the council meeting a list was read from rent collectors giving the names of the more obstinate bachelors, those who only occupy the cottages at night and keep them shut up all day. One member, Councillor Doran, remarked that one bachelor had got married the day before and he had another marriage the following day. This remark drew forth the query was Doran performing the marriage ceremony himself, and that gentleman laughingly explained that he had the duty of "driving" the bridal pair. Mrs. Kelly, a lady councilor, appealed for six weeks for these unmarried men.

FINE FERRY BILL.

Manager Bilger is certainly making good with his policy that the best entertainment is none too good for the patrons of Fontaine Ferry Park. For the coming week another fine vaudeville bill is promised. There are five turns, each constituting a headline feature. As usual Natello's band will put on a new programme of popular music in the open-air concerts. Monday will be C. K. of A. day, when the turn-out should prove equal to any of the season.

PARISH OUTING.

Next Tuesday the Rev. Father Ackermann and the people of St. Philip Neri's church will have an all-day parish outing at Fontaine Ferry Park. For several weeks Father Ackermann and Messrs. J. J. Caffrey, D. J. Duane, Sr., Thomas Sheehan, Eugene McCarthy, J. M. Fink, John Kleier, F. S. Stevens, John Breithell, P. F. McCarthy, M. A. McGee, Henry Kleier, F. B. Bloomer, Bernard Pfeister and the church societies have been busy making preparations for this picnic, to which they invite the Catholics of the entire city. Among the attractions will be a eucne, contests, drills, games and a fireworks display at night.

COLONELS HOME MONDAY.

Manager Jack Hayden's Louisville ball tossers will start for home after the double header at Indianapolis tomorrow, opening a four-game series with Kansas City at Eclipse Park Monday, and a big crowd of the fans is expected on hand even if the Colonels' showing on the road was not up to expectations. This is due to the fact that many are hungry for a good game of ball, their app-time being whetted by the long absence of the Louisville club, who have been gone since July 7. Three changes have been made in the line-up since that time. Davis playing first base instead of Fisher, Rudy Hulswit at second instead of Burke, and Manager Hayden playing right-field, replacing Hallinan, who was released. If Davis keeps up the hitting gait he established on the road he is sure to stay at the first corner regularly, and the veterans Hulswit and Hayden could not be improved upon.

Columbia Athletic Club
Outing at Fontaine Ferry.

The Columbia Athletic Club, composed largely of the young men of Germantown but representing all sections of the city, will have possession of Fontaine Ferry Park next Wednesday, when its first annual outing and all day picnic will take place. This club has now a fine home on East St. Catherine street, where its members find much enjoyment. Recently it was decided to have a reunion and outing for the families and friends of the members, and to this end arrangements were made with Manager Bilger for an athletic day at the popular Ferry resort. President Ben Beckman, Peter Koch, Will Larkin Henry and Theodore Walser, William Dennis, Ben Speaker and a number of others will constitute a reception committee, and they will also have a programme of amusements that is certain to please. They also invite members of all societies to spend the day with them.

HIBERNIANS.

What They Have Been Doing
the Past Week—General
News Notes.

Now for the State convention and an awakening of interest in the order.

Denver Hibernians made a decided success of their Sunday trip to Glacier Lake.

Division 3 meets Monday night. Magistrate Sullivan will tell the story of the Chicago convention.

All members were proud of the Hibernian building owned and controlled by the Chicago division.

James J. Regan is the first man in the history of the order to be elected National President without opposition.

The ladies from Louisville and Kentucky left a fine impress at Chicago. They never spent a more active or pleasant week.

Rev. Father D. O'Dwyer, of St. Patrick's church, addressed a large meeting of Denver Hibernians at the meeting Thursday night.

After a conference with the State and county officers, President Donnelly has called the Kentucky State convention for September 9 at Louisville.

Hibernians everywhere should study the insurance question. A uniform and workable law would be the means of bringing thousands into the order.

Milwaukee Hibernians will feature their annual reunion at Pabst Park on August 10 with addresses by well-known orators of the country, dancing and games.

Every member of Division 1 should be at the meeting Tuesday night. Besides the reports of the national convention there will be business of great importance.

None who heard him will soon forget the sermon preached by Rev. Father McNamee at the mass for deceased members at St. Patrick's church in Chicago.

Minnesota Hibernians are much elated over the re-election of National President James Regan. The convention recognized his ability and acted with wisdom.

Nearly a hundred of the best athletes of New York State and Canada contested in the track and field events at the fourth annual field day of the Buffalo Hibernians.

John Price, a well known member of Division 3, has left the city to take the position of private secretary to the General Signal Foreman of the L. & N. at Williamsburg.

President Ford calls upon all members to be present at the meeting of Division 3 next Wednesday night. Every one is deeply interested in the business to be transacted.

The Ladies' Auxiliary will have a grand rally at their meeting Wednesday night. They will receive complete reports from their representatives at the great Chicago convention.

P. T. Moran urged every State to send a strong delegation to the Commodore John Barry exercises in Washington next year. His monument will be the first erected to an Irish hero in the United States.

The chief Hibernian event of the year 1912 will be the unveiling of the Commodore Jack Barry monument in Washington. Many Irish organizations will combine with the Ancient Order in appropriately celebrating the occasion.

Kentucky was very much in evidence at the National convention. While on the lake excursion County President Tom Dolan assembled the Louisville delegation and aroused great enthusiasm when they started the "Old Kentucky Home." The spirit spread and other sectional songs were rendered, followed by the 2,200 men and women present singing "God Save Ireland."

EMPTY BOOM.

Ever since the Chicago convention a syphon has been at work on that great dam of popular demand for the third term. In addition the embankment has been leaking and evaporation has also been drawing the fluid away. What is left? Very little, answers the New York Herald. There is now no third term party worthy of being counted. The candidate will hold a convention to nominate himself at Chicago, unless something in the meantime intervenes, but it will be a convention containing few important men and packed mostly with the self-seekers and those cherishing personal grudges against President Taft.

WILL REMAIN HERE.

There was rejoicing in St. Anthony's parish when news was received from New York that the Chapter of the Minor Conventuals had returned. Rev. Seraphin Schlang, O. M. C., to be pastor of that congregation. The chapter was held in Utica last week, and was attended by Rev. Father Jerome Preissler, O. M. C., of St. Peter's and Rev. Father Schlang, of St. Anthony's. Both have returned to this city.

CURCH TO BE BUILT.

The pastor and people of St. John's congregation at Starlight, Clark county, Ind., have started a movement for the erection of a new church edifice, which will replace the old frame church that has been occupied by the congregation for many years and is not now inadequate to its growing needs. According to present plans the new church will be of re-enforced concrete and will cost between $7,000 and $10,000.

WENT OFF SICK.

Patrolman W. J. Sullivan, of the Fifth district, and Edward O'Brien, of the First, were compelled last week to relinquish their beats because of illness. (William O'Connell, of the Fifth, who is now at St. Joseph's Infirmary, is somewhat improved.)
